ABOUT THE FOUNDER

Dr.P.V.G.Raju, Raja Saheb of Vizianagarm, is a man saving his soul by righteousness, virtuousness and with humanism. He is a prince turned democrat and a democratic prince. He believed in the principle that mere accession to throne may not make one a prince or a ruler but only when one is true to one's conscience in providing the proletariat the spirit to sustain, the power to prosper and the needs to lead a socially comfortable life. He strictly conformed to his principle and it does reflect in his philanthropic works.

Despite his feudal background, he has chosen socialism and unswervingly strained his nerves to realize his cherished dreams in eradicating socio-economical inequalities to build a culturally, socially, economically and academically strong nation. He is such a noble personality that well before the idea of abolition of estates gained the momentum, he pleaded the government to abolish estates even without paying any compensation to the holders and became the first Indian ruler of this kind. As a part of realizing his socialistic ideals, he endowed almost all his properties to the educational trust MANSAS founded in the hallowed memory of his father Maharajah Alak Narayan Gajapathi who incorporated in the place of the traditional motto of Vizianagaram estate - "ever loyal", his own motto of real independence lies in virtual obedience or submission to one's own conscience. He cherished to establish a Tribal University in the vicinity of Vizianagaram besides establishing Medical and Engineering colleges to make it an epicentre of education. Conscious of his heritage 'Noblesse Oblige' he endowed the trust with almost all his properties worth hundreds of crores in the present value.

Besides his philanthropic work, Dr. Raju is deeply and equally interested in the working of "atma" as well as "atman" - as a true disciple to his spiritual mentor, the saint Swami Gnananda and elevated himself to the heights of Rajarishi.

MANSAS, who is a multifaceted man with exceptional qualities as a person as well as scholar. He is the man of intellectual integrity and humanism. He aspired to have clean politics to develop the nation a supreme power, both economically and socially.

He confides that roots for cherishing this lies in education. With a great vision of this he took the active role in politics and won 1983 elections and adorned ministry of Education and Health. During his tenure he tried his best to bring the education to the door step of the deserving people irrespective of economical and social positions by abolishing the capitation fee system in education. Further, he won the election in 1985 and 1991 as a Member of Parliament from Bobbili Constituency and brought the glory to the membership by his acumen imbued with political ideology.

After the demise of his father ,he has taken the reigns of MANSAS as a Chairman and been flowering it an epicentre of education by introducing engineering education and other professional courses under Trust and endeavouring to fulfil his father wishes. Culmination for his services to the cause of education has come in the way of conferment of Honorary Doctorate from Inter American University of Humanistic Studies, Florida, USA. 71st Indian Pharmaceutical Congress

The 71st Indian Pharmaceutical Congress with the theme 'Pharma Vision 2030: Healthcare System – Role of Regulators' was recently organised at Sri Ramachandra Institute of Higher Education and Research, Chennai. The three-day conference saw participation from pharmaceutical experts, regulators, academicians and pharmacy students from across the country. Our College students of 3rd and 4th B.Pharmacy along with four faculty members participated and some of them presented papers.

The event began with the release of the souvenir for the 71st Indian Pharmaceutical Congress by Drugs Controller General of India (DCGI) V G Somani; Ravi Uday Bhaskar, Director General, Pharmexcil; Atul Nasa, Drugs Control Officer, Drugs Control Department and T V Narayana, President, Indian Pharmaceuticals Association (IPA), along with several other dignitaries. Later, a number of panel discussions were held wherein industry stalwarts, academicians and regulators deliberated on various achievements and challenges in the industry.

Chief Guest Dr. Sylendra Babu, IPS, Additional Director General of Police (ADGP), addressed the students present at the congress. Also speaking on the occasion, Dr Dinesh Dua, Chairman, Pharmexcil, shared his vision for pharma industry in 2030.

T V Narayana, President, Indian Pharmaceuticals Association (IPA), Mumbai, shared the annual report for IPC 2018-19 and informed the audience about the background of this congress. He said that from 2007 onwards, five bodies have been hosting IPC, including Indian Pharmaceutical Association (IPA), Indian Pharmaceutical Graduates' Association (IPGA), Indian Hospital Pharmacists' Association (IHPA), Association of Pharmaceutical Teachers of India (APTI) and All India Drugs Control Officers' Confederation (AIDCOC).

This year's conference was hosted by AIDCOC.

Guest of Honour for IPC 2019, Dr Somani, in his address, kept the students in focus. Predicting the future of pharmacy for 2030, Dr Krishna Ella, Chairman and Managing Director, Bharat Biotech said that Chemistry is being worked upon 70 per cent, while only 30 per cent work is being done in Biology at present. “In 2030, it is expected to be vice-versa,” he anticipated.

Industry leaders also spoke about finding ways to bridge the gap between industry and academia. Dr PBN Prasad, Deputy Drugs Controller, CDSCO, said, “Academics should come to the industry with their requirements. Let us reorient towards that and make IPC a successful programme for both the industry as well as academia.”

Addressing a topic titled ‘Innovation to Commercialisation and Campus to Corporate,’ HG Koshia, Commissioner, Food Safety and Gujarat Food and Drug Control Administration, said, “In India, most of the companies are focussing on generics and the country is established as the pharmacy of the world because we know our core competence in generics and we are getting the lead of the 30 per cent of the world population by providing quality and safe medicines.”

Awards were also given by AIDOC to recognise people who have made an immense contribution to the pharma industry. A few other awards were also conferred to academicians by IPA, IHPA and APTI. Industry stakeholders were also able to showcase their innovations at the exhibition that was organised alongside the conference.

FEW SNIPPETS FROM THE STUDENTS

MY EXPERIENCE AT IPC

Some days are to be remembered and some days are named as memorable. This moment was the 71st IPC. It started with the beautiful experience in gateway to south India i.e. “Chennai”, where there was rising spark in Sri Ramachandra Institute of Higher Education and Research. The entrance was carved so well as to show the diversity of Chennai. The environment was filled with students from other colleges too, who were posing with a joyful smile. There was flow of music which filled the void with peace. Then a board showcased imprinting as “71st Indian Pharmaceutical Congress”, which made the moment more enduring. A hallway was decorated splendidly where all the participants and guests were so pleased to welcome and enjoy the glorious day. Guests spoke about the importance of IPC which helped us to understand how it played a major role. There was a place filled with participants to spread knowledge through seminar and compete in the competition which made the surrounding more worthy.

An area was laid down with partitions where various companies displayed the equipments used in industries which motivated them to work in pharmaceutical industries. It also included the sale of handcrafted bangles, earrings, food and many more. The organization also provided wide varieties of food which made people to embrace the taste of spice of Chennai. This IPC was completed in a blink of time which will always be remembered as remarkable days.

UNCONDITIONAL LOVE

Neeraj and Shruthi were living in Vizag. He wanted a girl child at the time when Shruti was pregnant, he prayed to every god and goddess to give a girl child. Luckily, their first child was a daughter and later their son was born. He was very much fond of his daughter. But gave equal priority to both of them. Neeraj daughter Archana joined in degree, whereas his son Agastya joined in medicine. In the second year of degree Archana fell in love with his senior Kumar. Kumar also loves her. One day as usual Archana went to the college, but didn't return even after the college was over. Neeraj came home knowing that Archana didn't come home. He got little tensed and rang her mobile. Her mobile was switched off. Afterwards Agastya and Neeraj were searching for Archana. They searched everywhere and talked to her friends, but they didn't know her identity.

At last police found her far away from the city she was molested and fully dehydrated, blood spills all over the area. She was unconscious. Police called an ambulance they reached to nearby hospital in a few minutes. The doctors are trying their best. After a few days everything came back normal. Neeraj was fully disturbed after the incident he withdrew the complainant from police station, and he doesn't want that thing like a scar...He decided to move on and taught the same to his daughter. After a few days the guy who did this thing is named Pavan. He received an anonymous phone call to kill a person for 20 lakhs. He agreed and asked them to meet in person. Pavan received a message about the shoes that man wear as a sign to identify. Note contain mall. Pavan went to mall and bought some cherry fruits and knife. In the mall he received a phone call from telephone booth and the man on other side informed about the meeting place at night. It was cold and the place was remote which is a bit away from city a man who was standing there gave coffee to Pavan and said any last wishes. Before completing the first sip of coffee by Pavan, the guy lacerated him in the chest strongly after that he took the cherries splashed on the way at the end of the way he placed the knife, cherries, shoes and left the place.

"A place where a group of strangers meet that turns out to be a beautiful family at end... "

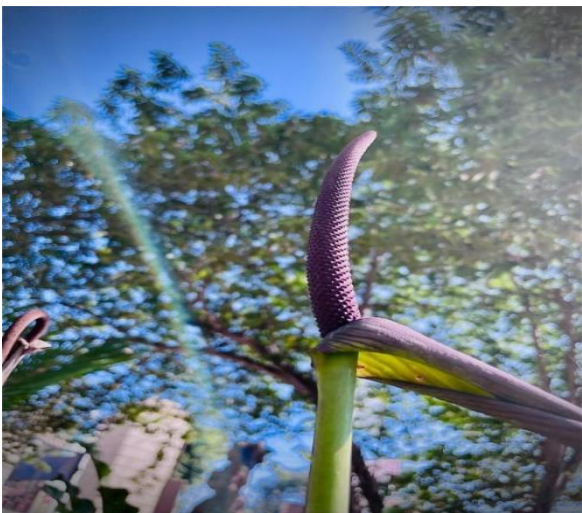

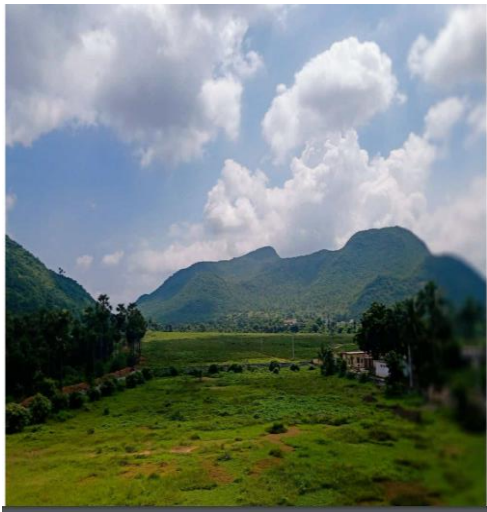

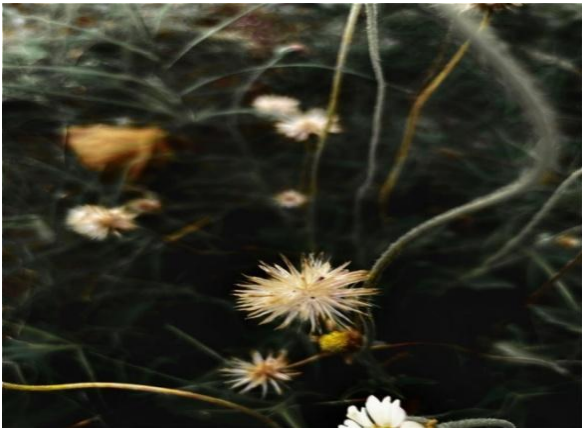

The first day of college was full of pressure
Yet we loved it
Every day of college is full of anxiety
Yet we loved it
Last day of college will be painful
Yet we always love it
Because people change with time
It was because of the sweet memories
That would remain same forever
